to say that in commenting upon the Attack made by the Indian Mirror on Sir Auckland Colvin.

for and against the National Congress, the Indian Mirror has made a most unjust attack on Sir Auckland Colvin. It is surprising that an old and well-informed newspaper like the Indian Mirror should have made such a serious mistake.
Sir Auckland fully sympathizes with the aims and objects of the Congress, though he considers the movement unnecessary.
He is of opinion that when natives have acquired political education and learnt to act in union by local self-government, Government will itself grant them the rights and privileges for which the Congress agitates. He has always encouraged them to take great interest in municipal administration and local self-government. Can any man be justified in calling him an enemy of the natives? The charges brought against His Honor by a correspondent of the Advocate were also unfounded. He communicated a letter to the press in which he expressly declared that he had no connection with Sir Saiyid Ahmad Khán and his party in their opposition to the Congress. After such a clear declaration from him it is unjust to lay any blame at his door. On the contrary, he deserves praise for the friendly advice given by him to all classes of natives in his darbar speeches. Even if he were an opponent of the National Congress, no native newspaper would be justified in abusing him, because a mere difference of opinion is not a sign of enmity. But, of course, the conduct of those men who oppose the National Congress from selfish motives and who are to be found in large numbers among the followers of Sir Saiyid Ahmad Khán cannot be too strongly condemned.

The same paper of the 2nd June says that the Hindu Patriot of Calcutta has a very able article on Mr. Theodore Beck, the Principal of the Aligarh Muhammedan College. Principal of the Aligarh Muhammedan College, with reference to his writings against the National Congress. The Calcutta newspaper gives him very good advice towards the end of the article. It says that if Mr. Beck is so anxious to promote the interests of Musalmáns, he should abstain from political discussions and devote his entire attention to giving Muhammadan boys an English education. Only two boys have passed the B. A. Examination from the Aligarh Muhammadan College this year, and they are both Hindús. Mr. Beck cannot do better than follow the advice of the Hindu Patriot. He should leave political discussions to his tutor Sir Saiyid Ahmad Khán, and himself do the work for which he is paid. The College has not yet made itself as useful as it should be.

The same paper of the 1st June says that Englishmen used to be in the habit of demanding subscriptions from native princes with the assistance of Political Agents and Residents for works of public utility in England, and that the native princes were obliged to comply with their demands to avoid incurring the displeasure of Political Agents and Residents. The St. James Gazette entered a strong protest against the practice, and it is a matter of satisfaction that the Government of India has forbidden the collection of such subscriptions in future.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION.

The Bharat Bandhu (Aligarh), of the 1st June, says that Alleged misbehaviour of not a single native is discontented with a Sessions Judge in Behar. Her Majesty's rule. But dissatisfaction sometimes breaks out among the people owing to the high-handedness and injustice of European officers, especially as the latter, as a rule, are not punished for their misbehaviour. The Bengali newspaper of Calcutta has published a sad story of the misbehaviour of a Sessions Judge. It is alleged that in Behar a man of bad character secretly entered the house of a person and there concealed himself with a view to committing a theft. He was discovered, seized, and made over to the police. The Sessions Judge, to whom the accused was committed for trial, suspected the conduct of the daughter of the man in whose house the accused had been caught, and asked her if she had ever had sexual intercourse with any person. The girl, who was only 12 years of age, denied the charge, but the Judge was not satisfied and ordered her to be examined by an Assistant Surgeon. The girl, her parents and brothers protested against the examination in vain and were much grieved at her ill-treatment. Nothing could be more unjustifiable than the ill-treatment of a young girl in such a way in a trial under section 454 of the Indian Penal Code. Heaven protect natives from dishonour! It will be a matter of deep regret if the Judge is not severely punished by Government.

The Ardd (Lucknow), of the 1st June, says that the Assessment of the in- assessments of the income-tax made come-tax, Lucknow. in Lucknow in 1885 and 1886 were very unsatisfactory. But since last year Mirza Irfan Ali Beg, the Tahsildar, has been revising the assessments with great care. As he has had to increase the tax in many cases and also to tax many persons who were hitherto exempt, the Deputy Commissioner is sure to receive a large number of objections. But it is to be hoped that the Deputy Commissioner will not readily alter the assessments made by the Tahsildar; otherwise well-to-do persons who are able to pay the tax will again escape scot-free and the poorer classes will be taxed. There is a dancing-girl, named Badr-i-Munir, who has obtained about Rs. 50,000 from Chaudhri Asghar Ali of Budaun during the last eight months, and in the western part of the city many traders, too, have large incomes. These persons should be fully taxed according to their incomes.

The Mufid-i-Am (Agra), of the 1st June, says that there is general dissatisfaction among the mosques at Agra. Muhammadan community of Agra with the proceedings of the committee appointed for the management of the Royal mosques. Hakim Saiyid Aulad Ali, a member of the committee, died more than two months ago, but the remaining members have not yet published a notice under Act XX. of 1863, calling upon the Muhammadan community to elect a new member in place of the deceased. It would seem that their object is to get some man whom they like appointed by the District Judge at the expiration of three months from the date of the occurrence of the vacancy. It is to be hoped that the Judge will not himself appoint a member, but will order the committee to hold an election as usual. Again, about two years ago the committee was ordered by Government to publish an account of the income and expenditure of the mosques for the information of the Muhammadan public, but it has not yet done so. The Mufid-i-Am is of opinion that the members of such committees should not be allowed to hold their office for life. The post should be tenable only for a fixed number of years like that of municipal commissioners, but, of course, a member should be eligible for re-election at the expiration of his term. In that case the members would perform their duties more carefully and make a point of winning the good will of the electors. Qualifications similar to those for municipal electors should be fixed for electors appointed under the Religious Endowments Act. If the Act were amended in accordance with these suggestions, there would be a great improvement in the management of religious endowments throughout the country.

opposition to the National Congress. It is not known how far their statement is well founded, but there is no doubt that the unsatisfactory result of the examination this year is due to some special cause. Of the 2,720 boys who have passed, only 187 are Musalmáns.

sympathy with the people, and says that he has strictly forbidden all tahsildars, police officials, chaprasis and other officials in the district to oppress or ill-treat the people in any way. No force or oppression is allowed to be practised in the collection of supplies for officials' camps during the winter, nor is anything allowed to be taken from any trader without its price being paid. The inhabitants of Bijnor are very fortunate that they have got such a sympathetic officer to rule over them. In conclusion, the Mihr-i-Nímróz observes that when any noblemen or gentlemen call upon the Magistrate, he should make enquiries from them as to the condition of the people. In this way he would be able to get much useful information.

A local correspondent of the Agra Punch, of the 4th

Alleged misbehaviour of June, refers to the cases of Raja Lal, Deputy Collector, Aligarh, and other native officers who were struck in their Courts with shoes by persons abused by them, and complains that a Muhammadan Special Magistrate at Agra, a retired Deputy Collector, is in the habit of abusing persons who appear before him as plaintiffs or defendants. The editor advises the Special Magistrate, who is also President of the Anjuman-i-Islamia, to refrain from using abusive language, and tells him that otherwise he is sure to be beaten with shoes by some person sooner or later. Government had also better make an enquiry into the matter.

The Subodh Sindhu (Khandwā), of the 30th May, referring to the memorial forwarded by Cow-slaughter. Mr. Karsetji Sorabji Jaswala to the Supreme Government, urging the stoppage of cow-slaughter, approves of the memorial and asks the Government to give the subject its best attention. Dissatisfaction is increasing more and more every day among Hindus owing to the killing of kine.

Circulation,

The Vritta Dhárá (Dhár), of the 31st May, condemns the killing of kine and regrets to say that, in spite of frequent appeals made by Hindus, Government has not yet seen its way to putting a stop to the evil practice. It is surprising that no man can cut down a tree situated even in his own land without the permission of Government, while any person can freely kill useful animals like kine without let or hindrance.

The Rájputána Gazette (Ajmere), of the 28th May, advertising to the death of Mr. L. S. Saunders, the late Commissioner of Ajmere. Berar and the late Commissioner of Ajmere, caused by a fall from his horse, expresses deep regret at his death and refers to the benefits which he bestowed on the inhabitants of Ajmere during his administration.

NATIVE STATES.

The Najmu-l-Akhbár (Etawah) of the 1st June, regrets to say that in some Native States some barbarous customs of the dark old days still prevail. In Cutch no Muhammadan is allowed to ride on horseback. The Musalmáns of the State lately applied to the ruling prince for the removal of the unjust disability under which they labour, but he did not accede to their wishes. It is surprising that a prince who has had the benefit of a visit to England should tolerate such objectionable customs in his State.

that it appears from the Eastern Herald of Mhow that when Diwan Raghunáth Rao was still the Prime Minister of Indore, he communicated confidential information about the condition of affairs in the State to the Pioneer, an inveterate enemy of this country. If the statement of the Mhow newspaper is well founded, it is a great misfortune of this country that a man of light and leading like the Diwan who considers himself a great social reformer and aspires to be placed in the same category of Hindu law-givers as Vyas, Manu, and Parashar, should have misbehaved himself in this way. This country cannot be expected to make any progress until the leaders of the native community mend their ways. Was not the conduct of the Diwan like that of a traitor?

The same paper approves of the appointment of Rao authority of its Nagina correspondent, complains that as there are only two peons in the post-office at Nagina, the mails are not delivered quickly enough. One peon has to deliver letters and pay money-orders throughout the city and its suburbs and the other in the outlying villages. Nagina has a population of 22,000 and is a centre of trade. One peon is not enough either for the city or for the interior of the tahsil. The peon who delivers letters in the villages is able to visit each village only once a week. Lately, when an inhabitant of Mahmudpur, Nagina, complained of delay in the receipt of his copy of the Mihr-i-Nimros, the editor reported the matter to the Postmaster of Bijnor, who made an enquiry from the Deputy Postmaster of Nagina. The result of the enquiry was that the delay was found to be due to the want of peons. The Mihr-i-Nimros hopes that the Postmaster-General will take the subject into consideration and remedy the evil.

to say that of late the relations between Hindús and Musalmáns throughout the country have become very unsatisfactory. The two classes quarrel with each other even over very small matters. It would seem that a Muhammadan shot a monkey at Chandausi, Moradabad. The Hindús considered the killing of the brute an insult to their religion and closed their shops, suspending all trade. The District Superintendent of Police, Moradabad, has gone to Chandausi to prevent the occurrence of any riots.

sanitary condition of the city, protests against his proposals for filling up the Bisala tank with earth and demolishing the city walls. The tank was made by Rája Bisaldeo Chauhan and is of historical importance, and therefore it should not be filled up. The demolition of the city walls would cost thousands of rupees, but would do no good. On the contrary, the people would be deprived of the protection which the walls afford them against thieves and robbers.

The correspondent of the Agra Punch, of the 4th June, A theft and the police, says that on the 5th May, when a Mahában, Muttra. well-to-do native of Mursan was getting a paper written by a petition-writer outside the compound of the tahsildár's office at Mahában, his bag, in which there were among other things Rs. 310 in cash and currency notes and other valuable documents worth Rs. 2,000, was stolen. He reported the matter to the police officials, but they at first threatened him and then recorded his report in such a way that the case might not look a serious one.

The same correspondent of the Agra Punch says that two or three European soldiers of the Muttra garrison lately shot two women and some men while out shooting in Mahában. The women have died of their wounds and the men lie in a hospital at Muttra. The soldiers' dog, which was seized and detained by the villagers, led to their identification, and they are now awaiting their trial. It is however, almost needless to say that the accused will escape scot-free as usual.

A correspondent of the Mihr-i-Nimroz (Bijnor), of the Jhánsi cantonment. Five men of the Bania caste, who were accompanied by their families, were attacked by six robbers, who severely wounded two of them, killed a child, and carried away property valued at Ra. 20,024.
